The Wauneta Breeze

Following the completion of basketball season, NSAA and RPAC have recognized winter sports participants.

Six Wauneta-Palisade students were listed as academic all-state performers.

Basketball players Jack McGraw, Hayden Pollmann, Tailor Lee and Brooklyn Nordhausen and speech participants Nicole Strand and Tom McGraw are recipients of the Nebraska Chiropractic Physicians Association Academic All-State Award.

Nominated by their school, the award is for individual academic excellence, leadership and significant contributions in their NSAA activities.

The Republican Plains Activities Conference also released its all conference basketball teams.

On the boys side, Hayden Pollmann and Logan Bischoff were on the second team.

McGraw was honorable mention.

Abbie Fanning and Lee were awarded first team placement.

Emma Skelton, Brianna Einspahr and Sydnee Harchelroad were honorable mention.

It's the second year Bischoff, Fanning and Lee have been recognized by the RPAC.

Bischoff and Fanning were second team last year and Lee was honorable mention.

Nordhausen, Lee, McGraw and Pollmann were academic award winners following the fall sports seasons.
