The staff at Palisade’s swimming pool is offering the community more than just a place to cool down during hot summer days. They are also teaching pool patrons the importance of practicing sun safety.

Southwest Nebraska Public Health Department (SWNPHD) is partnering with the Palisade City Pool through a grant from the Nebraska Comprehensive Cancer Control Program. Palisade was chosen for another year to participate in the POOL COOL program to increase youth awareness of sun safety.

“POOL COOL will be taught by pool staff members during swim breaks at the Palisade Pool this summer,” explained Denise Ringenberg, Health Educator at SWNPHD.

“We want to increase the use of sunscreen, covering up, sunglasses, hats and seeking shade between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.,” she said.

POOL COOL is a multi-component skin cancer prevention program for use with outdoor pools. Palisade Pool received a quart of 30 SPF sunscreen and UV wristbands that change color as a

The pool already has signage from previous years involvement to remind customers about sun safety. Color-changing wristbands will be given out to youth at the pool.

“We are pleased to see Donna Schluckebier and her staff serving as role models for using sunscreen,” noted Ringenberg. “The lifeguards do an excellent job teaching sun safety during swim breaks.”
