

Bill Sandman receives excellence award

Written by Wauneta Breeze
Thursday, 15 December 2011 16:13 -

Bill Sandman of Utica was selected as the recipient of the 2011 Manufacturing Excellence Award for sustained levels of outstanding performance he has demonstrated.

This award is focused on key individuals in the Monsanto organization who routinely go above and beyond their job responsibilities to lead and deliver results in improving safety, quality and reliability while optimizing costs.

It also recognizes employees like Sandman who have taken additional actions to support, mentor and develop his peers and business colleagues to improve results of the team based off his operational excellence.

In recognition of Sandman's accomplishment he and wife Debbie were invited to go to San Francisco, Calif., for the Excellence Recognition event along with 23 other colleagues from North America Seeds & Traits, Crop Protection, Vegetable, Supply Chain and ES&H manufacturing organizations along with leadership from these teams.

While there they went on a dinner cruise, visited Muir Redwoods, and toured several wineries in Napa Valley.