Nebraska Grain Sorghum Board Member Kevin Janicek said the Trenton Field Day, one of five planned across the state, will also include a visit from a bird seed manufacturer from Akron, Colo., who is interested in purchasing milo from local farmers.

Each location will also offer a free meal to participants.

At the meal program Ag West will feature a market outlook and sorghum checkoff staff with an update on research and market development projects.

There will also be a yield guessing contest and a drawing for door prizes.

Participating seed companies include Arrow Seed Company, Channel Seed, DeKalb Seed, Fontanelle Seed Company, Gayland Ward Seed, Mycogen Seed, NuSeed/Richardson Seed, Pioneer and Sorghum Partners.

Planning and coordination of the event is sponsored by the Nebraska Grain Sorghum Board, Nebraska Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Abengoa Bioenergy, UNL Extension and Allied Energy.

Other Sorghum Field Day locations across the state include:

Sept. 16, 10:30 a.m. CT, Boelus–Jack and Wayne Reimers Farm (1.5 miles west on Hwy 58)

Sept. 16, 1:00 p.m. CT, Farwell–John Dvoracek Farm (Off of Hwy 92 at the west edge of Farwell, go 2 miles north on Salem; 1 mile west on 15th Avenue and 1.25 miles north on Tilden)
