Neighborly spirit was truly alive when nearly 100 neighbors and friends representing six different counties converged on the farm of the Bill McCoys' Monday to harvest 390 acres of corn for them as Bill had been diagnosed with lung cancer. Glen Coleman of Elsie, Jim Thompson of Wauneta, Dean Mitchell of Imperial and Henry Vedder of Wallace spear headed the picking bee which included 14 combines, 11 grain carts, 29 trucks including five semis, five augers and 75 men and women working in the field and 25 women preparing lunch.

The Community Service Club sponsored an old fashioned Halloween night Saturday putting on a party for about 70 kids.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Yost, assisted by many of the family, moved from their home on the Maddux Ranch to Wauneta over the weekend.

Ed and Anna Belle Vapenik and Wayne and Marie Smith attended Polka Days at Utica Saturday and Sunday.

John Maddux and Ken Schlemmel of Chicago, Ill., arrived at the Jack and Carol Maddux home Thursday night and enjoyed duck hunting during their weekend stay. Carol's mother, Mrs. Fay Smith of Omaha, was also a weekend guest.

Monday, Nov. 8 marked the beginning of mail service on the branch line via truck. Protest was made along the way by business men and clubs. Burlington service has been excellent since railroad officials and businessmen met in conference early last spring. The only reason we can see for the change is that Uncle Sam is trying to balance the budget.

One hundred friends gathered Friday evening to welcome Rev. Martin and family to the Mt. Zion Church and community.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Theobald were guests at a venison dinner at the C. E. Johnston home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bunker of Kansas City were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kerns.

A new all-time attendance record at the home field in Lincoln was established when the Cornhuskers beat Indiana 7-0. Turning the turnstiles were 39,360 persons, beating the old record of 37,106, not counting the ushers, program sellers and band members.
